FCCLA MOTTO

The motto, "Toward New Horizons," is a challenge to all members, officers, and advisers. It reminds us that our contributions to home life today will influence the kinds of homes we have tomorrow; and that the family life we have will influence the community and the world.

EMBLEM

The emblem of the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America shows that FCCLA is a dynamic, active organization bound for the future. The dominant collegiate lettering articulates a focus on education and student leadership. The logo is red, the color of the rose, as a sign of strength. The swooping arrow arch is a common motif in today's designs and definitely embodies an active organization that moves toward new arenas.

STATE OFFICER CHARACTERISTICS

- Set a good example for other officers and members to follow. When you're out in a group mix and mingle – don't attach yourself to one person. Exhibit qualities of a team player/member when working with local chapters, state staff, advisers, and executive council members. Officers are expected to work harmoniously and respect the opinions, ideas, and decisions of others. The key tools needed to be a successful team player are a positive attitude, flexibility, and the willingness to be supportive of another's ideas.
- As a State Executive Council member, you have many responsibilities. These responsibilities take priority over other school and community activities. In order to honor these priorities, sacrifices sometimes have to be made, so be prepared to manage them positively.
- Do your best at all times. Make the most effective use of your time.
- Keep all appointments. Plan to arrive ahead of schedule.
- Learn all you can about FCCLA on the national, state, and local levels.
- Start all meetings on time – urge all members to be prompt.
- Set definite deadlines for projects. Help everyone see the value of having projects completed by the assigned time. For yourself, get things done ahead of time and be certain you meet the deadlines that are set. Don't forget to budget time for yourself!
- Make sure any personal Web pages (Facebook, blogs, Twitter, etc.) are a positive reflection of your role as an FCCLA youth leader. Continually monitor your site/s to remove inappropriate comments, photos, or links.

STATE OFFICER EXPECTATIONS

Officer Pledge and Code of Conduct

As part of the state officer candidate process, a copy of the FCCLA Member Code of Conduct, State Officer Pledge, and State Officer Commitment Forms sent to state officers and their advisers prior to the State Leadership Conference. This is to emphasize the importance of state officers maintaining an image that is a positive example for our members. The pledge is signed by the officer, a parent or guardian, and the adviser to indicate all understand the standards of behavior and appearance expected of a state officer. The discipline process, approved by the Montana FCCLA Board of Directors, is included within this handbook. A copy of all documents can be found in the Miscellaneous Forms section of this handbook.

Performance and Leadership Award

The Rubric for State Officer Performance and Leadership Award will be used by Montana FCCLA State Executive Council Members, SEC Advisers, and the State Leadership Team to evaluate the officer's performance of general responsibilities and those unique to the specific office. Scores will be used to determine the monetary amount of the State Officer Leadership Award, up to $475. The earned leadership award will be given to the state officer's chapter at the close of the state officer's term. The complete rubric can be found in the Miscellaneous Forms section of this handbook. Additional policies regarding officer performance can be found in the Disciplinary Process section of this handbook.

Officer Reports and Correspondence

Monthly progress reports are expected of each officer and are due by the 5th of each month. The report should be completed and submitted through Montana FCCLA's website. A copy of Monthly Report Form is provided in the Miscellaneous Forms section of this handbook.

Montana FCCLA utilizes G-Suite products for all email correspondence and file storage. Every state officer will be required to use their Gmail account to access emails and documents. It is recommended that officers check their email at least twice per week. When communicating with officers, the State Leadership Team will always copy the officer's adviser on the email. Below are additional guidelines for email communication:

- When emailing anyone on the State Leadership Team, CC your Adviser
- When emailing your district chapters, CC the State Director, State Officer Coordinator, and your Adviser

Additionally, Montana FCCLA asks that all officers and advisers download the app "GroupMe" to receive brief reminders and messages from the State Leadership Team.

All correspondence, presentations, and scripts must receive prior approval, first from your adviser and then from the State Leadership Team.

Social Media

Throughout their term, state officers may be provided administrative access to certain association accounts (social media accounts, etc.). These passwords must remain confidential, and are not to be shared or distributed to fellow officers, advisers, parents, members, etc.

Only Montana FCCLA staff are authorized to represent the Montana FCCLA State Association in online and print conversations. Montana FCCLA members, including elected officers, advisers, and staff that choose to participate in a conversation where Montana FCCLA is mentioned or implied will need to keep the following guidelines in mind, accurately identify yourself and your role within the organization, and the fact that the things you post are your own individual opinion. If you create or contribute to blogs, wikis, social networks, virtual worlds, or any other kind of Social Media where Montana FCCLA is mentioned or implied, here are some guiding principles for you to keep in mind and follow:

Think Before Posting. No use of social media publication may include confidential Montana FCCLA material, employment documents, or information that may deem detrimental to our members, advisers, partners, employees, or stakeholders.

Identify Yourself. When posting content related to Montana FCCLA or its members you must identify yourself with the proper title and identify that it is your personal/individual opinion. Any specific comments related to a statement from the Montana FCCLA State Association must be made through the State Leadership Team.

Remember Your Work Responsibilities. Do not let social media interfere with your ability to work with the student body or serve the organization.

Don't Mislead Others. Never represent yourself or the Montana FCCLA State Association in a misleading manner. You are solely responsible for the content you post or interact with online. Tell the truth, and don't reference fellow members, advisers, or others without their expressed permission.

Legal Matters. Never comment on anything related to legal matters.

General Conference and Meeting Expectations

- Know the schedule. Take time to know every detail of your schedule, and most important – be on time!
- Be sincere. Your sincerity will help make people feel comfortable and appreciated.
- Speak and act with honesty. If you always speak with integrity and believe in your own words and actions, others

- will pick up on this and mimic it, fostering an atmosphere of trust.
- Be aware of body language. Your body language sends a strong message to others, so be aware your posture and gestures.
- Make time for the members. A conversation that is simply small talk to you can mean a lot to someone else who is shy or feels their opinion isn't taken into consideration.
- Listen to others. Always listen to what people are saying to you, not just their words. Make it a point to look into their eyes, listen to their words and tone of voice, and watch their body language.
- Be helpful. Your role at a conference is to help the host chapter or association in any way possible. Offer your help frequently and accept all tasks with humility.
- Say please and thank you. Having excellent manners will go a long way to help boost your influence with members, advisors and professionals.
- Be enthusiastic. State officers should always strive to be the most enthusiastic person in the room. You have a passion for FCCLA, show it!

DISCIPLINARY PROCESS

Tracking Progress

The State Officer Performance and Leadership Award rubric will be used to track each officer's engagement and completion of tasks. The rubric is stored on Google Drive and will be reviewed with the officer, State Officer Coordinator and/or the State Director at each SEC meeting. Scores will be updated on each officer's rubric within 10 business days of the conclusion of a conference call or meeting. The rubric will be completed at the State Leadership Conference or at the end of the officer's term, whichever is first. Officers are expected to maintain an 80% average score on the designated rubric to maintain a status of "Good Standing" with the SEC team and be eligible to earn the State Officer Performance and Leadership Award, or they will face the disciplinary process outlined below.

When an Officer Doesn't Fulfill Their Commitment

1. An officer that has fallen below an average score of 80% on the State Officer Performance and Leadership Award Rubric, or who has committed another violation of their agreement as a state officer, will be notified immediately that the officer is considered to be on probation and disciplinary process has begun, and then in written form via certified mail within 10 business days following the verbal notification. This information will also be sent to the officer's parent/guardian, local adviser and administrator.
2. Upon review of the officer's actions, Montana FCCLA may take any of the following actions:
 - a. send letter of reprimand to officer and place letter in officer's file
 - b. place officer on an extended period of probation
 - c. place officer on suspension
 - d. remove officer from office
3. The state officer, local adviser, principal, parent/guardian shall be notified via certified mail within 10 business days of the decision.
4. Officers that are removed from office will not be eligible for the State Officer Performance and Leadership Award.

DRESS CODE FOR STATE OFFICERS

Officer Uniform and Dress Code

The Montana FCCLA Dress Code applies to state officers during participation in any FCCLA activity or meeting. It is provided on the following page. Because state officers are expected to set a positive example for other members, you are held to a higher standard. In addition to the guidelines found in the code, please note the following:

- When representing FCCLA wear the official uniform, unless otherwise requested or approved by state staff. There will be no smoking when in uniform or at any FCCLA function.
- The only pins worn on the uniform are the officer pin and the name badge. Other pins (i.e. Power of One) should be worn on the chapter uniform or other garment. The officer pin should be worn over the heart with the guard to the left and slightly below the emblem.
- Do not wear individual pieces of your official uniform for non-FCCLA related activities, as you will want to keep these items in good condition.
- Any items loaned to the officer are expected to be returned to the State Association at the end of the officer's term.

Failure to follow the Montana FCCLA Dress Code and the standards above may result in the officer being prohibited from participating in the FCCLA meeting/activity or sent to change clothing.

MONTANA FCCLA DRESS CODE

One of the eight purposes of FCCLA is as follows: "To prepare for the multiple roles of men and women in today's society." Therefore, an important part of the educational experiences provided by FCCLA includes developing an understanding of appropriate behavior and dress for business meetings and functions.

DRESS CODE FOR NATIONAL FCCLA MEETINGS AND EVENTS

National FCCLA has instituted a dress code for all nationally sponsored meetings and events. This code is found on the national website (www.fcclainc.org). When participating in national activities, Montana state officers will be expected to follow the national dress code. For most national activities, Montana officers will be in uniform. A uniform schedule for each day will be prepared by state staff or the state president and distributed to the SEC in advance of the meeting or activity.

PUBLIC SPEAKING TIPS

Keep It Real. The best presentations give a feeling of spontaneity, even if they are highly scripted. The more natural you are, the more comfortable you will be on stage, and the more receptive your audience will be hearing what you have to say.

Tell the Story Your Way. You may be tempted to emulate speakers you admire or even peers on your team. If you do that, your message could end up feeling forced. Instead, map out the structure that seems most natural and tailored to your personal speaking style.

Work the Crowd. Before your presentation, if there's an opportunity, try to network with conference attendees. The small talk will give you a better sense of your audience. Even better, you'll see more friendly and supportive faces in the crowd when you take the stage.

Psych Yourself Up, Not Out. Public speaking is one big mind game. Try not to stand backstage thinking about what could go wrong. Think more like an athlete before a big game. Psych yourself up with positive affirmations. You'll feel those thoughts enter your body and boost your confidence.

Practice, Then Practice Again. The best way to calm your nerves and ensure that you're ready to deliver your message is thorough practice. This means reading through your scripts, practicing your speaking parts in front of the mirror and rehearsing at least twice on stage with your full officer team. Be sure to come fully prepared for your moment and treat it with the respect it deserves. You will look your best on stage!

Be Okay with the Unexpected. You may forget a word, someone may drop something backstage, or there might be a technical difficulty. Take a moment, breathe deeply and just roll with it. The audience will follow your lead. Sometimes there are roadblocks to the finish line, but what's important is that you reach the destination of conveying your message.

MAKING OFFICIAL OFFICER VISITS

When you visit a conference, meeting, or chapter:

- Find out as much as possible about the chapter or group before your visit.
- Get acquainted with as many members as possible.
- Give encouragement to members and advisers.
- Recognize the good things the group is doing.
- If it seems advisable, tell them a few of the good things other groups are doing.
- Be of whatever help possible to members and officers.

DUTIES OF STATE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL ADVISERS

The adviser to a state officer plays an important role in guiding the work of your officer throughout the year. Because this is a youth-centered organization, advisers must frequently remain in the background while allowing the officer to assume more leadership responsibilities. Since so many experiences will be new to our officers, you have a very special role to play – letting go of your student so he/she will develop and grow as a leader and young adult, while still being there to provide support, encouragement, and guidance. The state officer and the adviser work cooperatively together in completing officer tasks and in advancing the mission of Family, Career and Community Leaders of America.

Advisers need to accompany and supervise officers on all official trips for meetings, presentations, or other functions where the officer is representing Montana FCCLA. Where this is not possible, other arrangements need to be made and approved by the state adviser(s) for an adult to accompany the officer.

As a supportive adviser, you play a key role. Following are some thoughts about how you can help throughout the year:

COMMUNICATIONS:

- Establish a good relationship and talk about expectations of the officer, your role, state staff, and the state association.
- Be aware of commitments and encourage the officer to be prompt.
- Establish a friendly, supportive role with your officer.
- Realize it is the student's office and you serve in a consultant capacity.
- Work as a check system in making sure the officer keeps everyone informed.
- Encourage, double-check, help out, or take photos and enjoy a special relationship.
- Monitor the officer's social networking sites to make sure no inappropriate language, photos, comments, or links are posted.

SUPPORT:

- Help the officer know who to contact at school to prepare for missing classes. Either make contacts yourself or go along with the officer.
- Working with the state staff as needed, discuss the importance of school, accompanied travel, and absences with student, parents, and administrators.

- Call the officer's parents or guardians to discuss the year ahead and to answer any questions they may have.
- Assist the officer with contacts with teachers, administrators, and counselors to help interpret responsibilities and potential absences from school.
- Assist the officer with planning class schedules at the beginning of the year.
- Assist the officer in balancing responsibilities of the office with other extracurricular activities and classes; keep in mind the school's master calendar. Remind officer of commitment to Montana FCCLA when conflicts occur. Caution students not to overextend themselves thereby endangering their health or grades

KEEP IN TOUCH WITH STATE STAFF:

- Alert state staff to any conditions that may affect the officer's participation, such as problems with grades.
- Read the materials that come to you from the state office, including this handbook.
- Call or email if you have any questions.
- Maintain lines of communication with the state staff.

TROUBLESHOOTING:

- If problems arise, discuss them immediately.
- Stressors common to state officers are: (1) missing school and keeping teachers happy; (2) changes in social life/keeping friends happy; and (3) maintaining grades and health while fulfilling officer responsibilities.
- Let the officer know about problems that are critical and if your discussions with the officer do not bring about a solution, outline the process to be followed in dealing with the issue.
- Ask questions before jumping to conclusions.

SPECIFIC ADVISER ASSIGNMENTS:

- During the National Leadership Conference, or at other times if the need arises, SEC advisers may be asked to assume special responsibilities to assist the state staff in coordinating activities. These requests will be made in advance with consideration toward other responsibilities the adviser may have.

Montana FCCLA is grateful for your dedication and hard work in helping your state officer get the most out of this year!

OFFICER/ADVISER EXPENSES AND REIMBURSEMENT

The state officer and their adviser will be expected to attend specific meetings, outlined below. Travel expenses will be reimbursed for activities requested or approved by the state director. Lodging and most meals for SEC meetings, Leadership Rally, and State Leadership Conference will be on a master account paid by the state association.

MEALS

Any meals consumed while traveling to a Montana FCCLA event will be reimbursed according to the rates set by the State of Montana. In 2021-2022, the meal reimbursement rates are: $7.50 for breakfast, $8.50 for lunch and $14.50 for dinner. Meals consumed while traveling from a Montana FCCLA event do not qualify for reimbursement.

MILEAGE

Mileage driven to SEC meeting may be reimbursable. Drivers can be reimbursed for their total mileage up to half of the Montana state rate. In 2020, the mileage reimbursement rate is 56 cents per mile. Advisers or parents must always drive officer(s) to any Montana FCCLA event. State officers are not allowed to drive due to liability involved for schools and families. Advisers are responsible for getting students to a carpool location or provide transportation to the meeting.

SUBMITTING REIMBURSEMENT INFORMATION

To receive reimbursements for mileage or meals, advisers (or accompanying adult) must complete an Expense Form, found in the Miscellaneous Forms section of this handbook. A receipt is required for all meals.

WHAT TO DO WHEN YOUR YEAR AS A STATE OFFICER IS OVER

Your year as a state officer, with all its involvement and activities, will quickly come to an end. You have planned and carried out a state conference and other important projects that gave many students and adults important leadership experiences, and memories to last forever. After the conference with all its excitement and activity, you'll realize your term is complete! There are new state officers now and they are about to enjoy some of the same experiences you have just had.

Make sure you have completed all responsibilities assigned as part of your year as an officer. There may be a need for follow-up emails and reports, or final visits to area chapters. Be sure you have left your electronic media and state officer notebook in good order. Copies of your letters, presentations, reports, and other written work will save the new officer time and be excellent resources in carrying out his/her responsibilities. Complete the State Officer Tips & Tricks form and review it with the new officer during the State Leadership Conference. So, what now?

You might be feeling sad that your term has ended. It's normal to feel this way! There will be some adjustments to make and a good thing to do is stay involved. Your leadership skills will remain valuable to FCCLA, but you need to let the organization know you're interested. You are also a good resource for chapters across the state. If you wish to continue active involvement, whether still in high school or not, let the State Leadership Team or your adviser know where you will be and the activities in which you wish to be involved. Make your interest known to community and school groups, as well.

When it's over, it will have been quite a year! You will have accomplished many things, had fun and exciting memories, and faced many challenges! Take these things with you because they will be helpful in the many new and exciting experiences that lie ahead. Your future possibilities are limitless and the doors of opportunity are just waiting for you to knock!

Within the organization you will serve as a valuable resource as an Alumni & Associates member and recruiter. Dedicated support through the years has helped FCCLA become the strong organization it is now. You have the opportunity to provide some support and maybe give back to FCCLA some of what it gave you. If you are interested in being actively involved in the A&A organization, consider joining on the National FCCLA website.

Your term as a state officer will be over, however, you will have many opportunities to influence your environment, serve your community, and be a great leader!

Miscellaneous Forms

Forms are also found in the Google Drive folder provided for the State Executive Council.
